Acute Treatment Services (ATS)

Acute treatment services are used if you are or someone else is in need of detoxification from substance use. To go directly into a detoxification unit, call and ask if they have open beds or use this new online tool which will tell you where there are available beds:

<http://mabhaccess.com/m/login.aspx>

Beds will open each day, so it's important to continue to call or check online. *

Western Massachusetts Veterans Treatment Court

Chief Probation Officer, Sean McBride sean.mcbride@jud.state.ma.us/
413-493-0212

Holyoke District Court

The Veterans Treatment Court serves the needs of court-involved veterans who may benefit from alternatives to incarceration due to the physical and mental effects of their military experiences. The court sits weekly with a dedicated judge. Defendants are veterans who plead guilty to a criminal charge and enter the court voluntarily. Instead of being sentenced to jail time, they will enter an 18-month supervised probation period with regular drug and alcohol testing. Veterans will participate in the treatment such as detoxification for substance abuse problems or mental health treatment and will be matched with a veteran mentor. If they are homeless, they will get help finding housing.

Veterans Assistance

The Veterans Blue Book is a guidebook offering contact and general information about local, state, and federal resources for Western Massachusetts veterans and their families.

FRANKLIN FAMILY DRUG COURT

Help for families struggling with substance use disorder

Franklin Probate and Family Court
43 Hope Street, Greenfield, MA 01302

Register's Office (413) 774-7011 Probation Department (413) 774-2229 TTY (413) 774-3364

WHY PARTICIPATE IN FAMILY DRUG COURT?

- Children of all ages suffer when a parent abuses drugs or alcohol;
- Every child deserves and wants to have the best parent he or she can have.

THE GOAL OF THE FRANKLIN FAMILY DRUG COURT IS TO TREAT THE ENTIRE FAMILY by:

- Assisting the parent in his or her recovery;
- Addressing the needs of the child and caregiver;
- Removing the stigma of addiction.

WHAT ARE THE SERVICES OF THE FAMILY DRUG COURT?

The Franklin Drug Court offers services for families struggling with substance use disorder. It is a voluntary program that may help your family. Services for children and caregivers include:

- Trauma assessments and follow-up treatment;
- Education about the disease model of addiction;
- Referrals for resources and supportive services for the caregiver.

"The best advice I can give parents is that life is so much better without drugs. I wish every addict could learn that and feel the way I do. It is not an easy or a fast process, but it is so worth it. Things will get better."

Molly, Drug Court Graduate

NOT JUST A PLACE TO GO, A PLACE TO BELONG!

NRC is a safe peer-driven community that provides a positive welcoming environment for people on all pathways and in all stages of recovery from addiction, as well as for their families and allies. Together we share support, resources and hope.

Peers lead and design opportunities for social, educational and wellness activities that support recovery.

NRC honors the value of life experiences and provides a creative place for people to heal and grow in mind, body and spirit.

Drug Diversion and Treatment Program

The Drug Diversion and Treatment Model

Office of Northwestern District
Attorney David Sullivan
Contact: Program Director at
(413) 586-9225

A voluntary program for non-violent offenders with substance abuse issues who have been charged with certain drug-related offenses. Eligible candidates have the opportunity to receive comprehensive substance abuse treatment services in lieu of prosecution through the traditional court process.

Completing the diversion program requires full participation in an individualized treatment plan with case management for at least 6 months. Clinical evaluations and treatment plans are administered by clinicians from Clinical & Support Options and Center for Human Development and include a range of inpatient and outpatient services and support designed to help participants become drug-free.

Persons identified by the District Attorney's Office will:

- Receive a thorough clinical evaluation;
- Participate in intensive treatment;
- Be subject to strong case management, including drug screening when applicable;
- Be offered a recovery coach to assist with long-term recovery and sobriety.

By now we know three primary factors lead to the disease of addiction: genetic predisposition, exposure to substances when a person's brain is developing, and early trauma known as adverse childhood experiences (ACEs).

Addiction is similar to other chronic illnesses in that it can be prevented, it responds to treatment -- and people do recover. We need approaches to addiction that include all three strategies of prevention, treatment and recovery support.

Board-certified addiction specialist Dr. Ruth Potee believes responses to people dealing with addiction must be compassionate, free of stigma and without judgement. "Addiction is a chronic disease. It lasts a lifetime," she has said. "You may think locking people up and throwing away the key is going to fix this problem. I cannot say how strongly that that does not resolve the issue of addiction."

Approaching our nation's epidemic of addiction from the three fronts of prevention, treatment and recovery support is what this resource guide is all about. On these pages you will find information about prevention coalitions mobilizing communities to increase the protective factors and reduce the risk factors that might lead young people to use substances while their brains are developing. Delaying first use protects those developing brains.

You will find information about treatment centers, acute and longer-term, residential and day treatment, harm reduction services, hotlines and crisis services. Also included are recovery support services such as sober homes, recovery high schools and peer recovery centers. These supports respond to the impact of ACEs to increase the resilience of anyone on any path to recovery.

Together, we are up to the task of meeting this public health crisis with common sense and compassion.

Sincerely,

David E. Sullivan
Northwestern District Attorney
